

All the training on the new equipment has been completed at the maintenance dept. at Cartmell, everything is far from being understood completely but the basics have been covered. There was a problem with breaker overload in the new computer lab at Winn that has been resolved. We were having problems with breaker overload in the computer closet at Winn and found a copier that was supposed to be on its own circuit, this has been separated into two circuits and solved. We are presently making plans to move into the new Headstart facility. We have emptied the two remaining storage trucks that were left from Cartmell renovation which will drop the rental charge. There is one trailer remaining with Headstart supplies that should be emptied soon after we move in. There was a crack in the roof at Winn causing a leak but has been addressed under warranty. We are addressing work orders as they arrive if possible by the next day and all is going well. I am always available for questions or suggestions if anything should arise.
